May 2018

Global Markets Summary

May 2018

Asset Class Returns

Fixed Income

- The 10-year U.S. Treasury fell 9 bps to end the month at 2.86%.
- The decline in yield was a direct benefit to bond prices as the Barclays Agg gained during the month along with TIPS and Munis.
- Unhedged indices fell as emerging markets currencies took center focus. A rally in the dollar caused emerging indices to fall as the market digested their prospects under tighter U.S. policy.

Equities

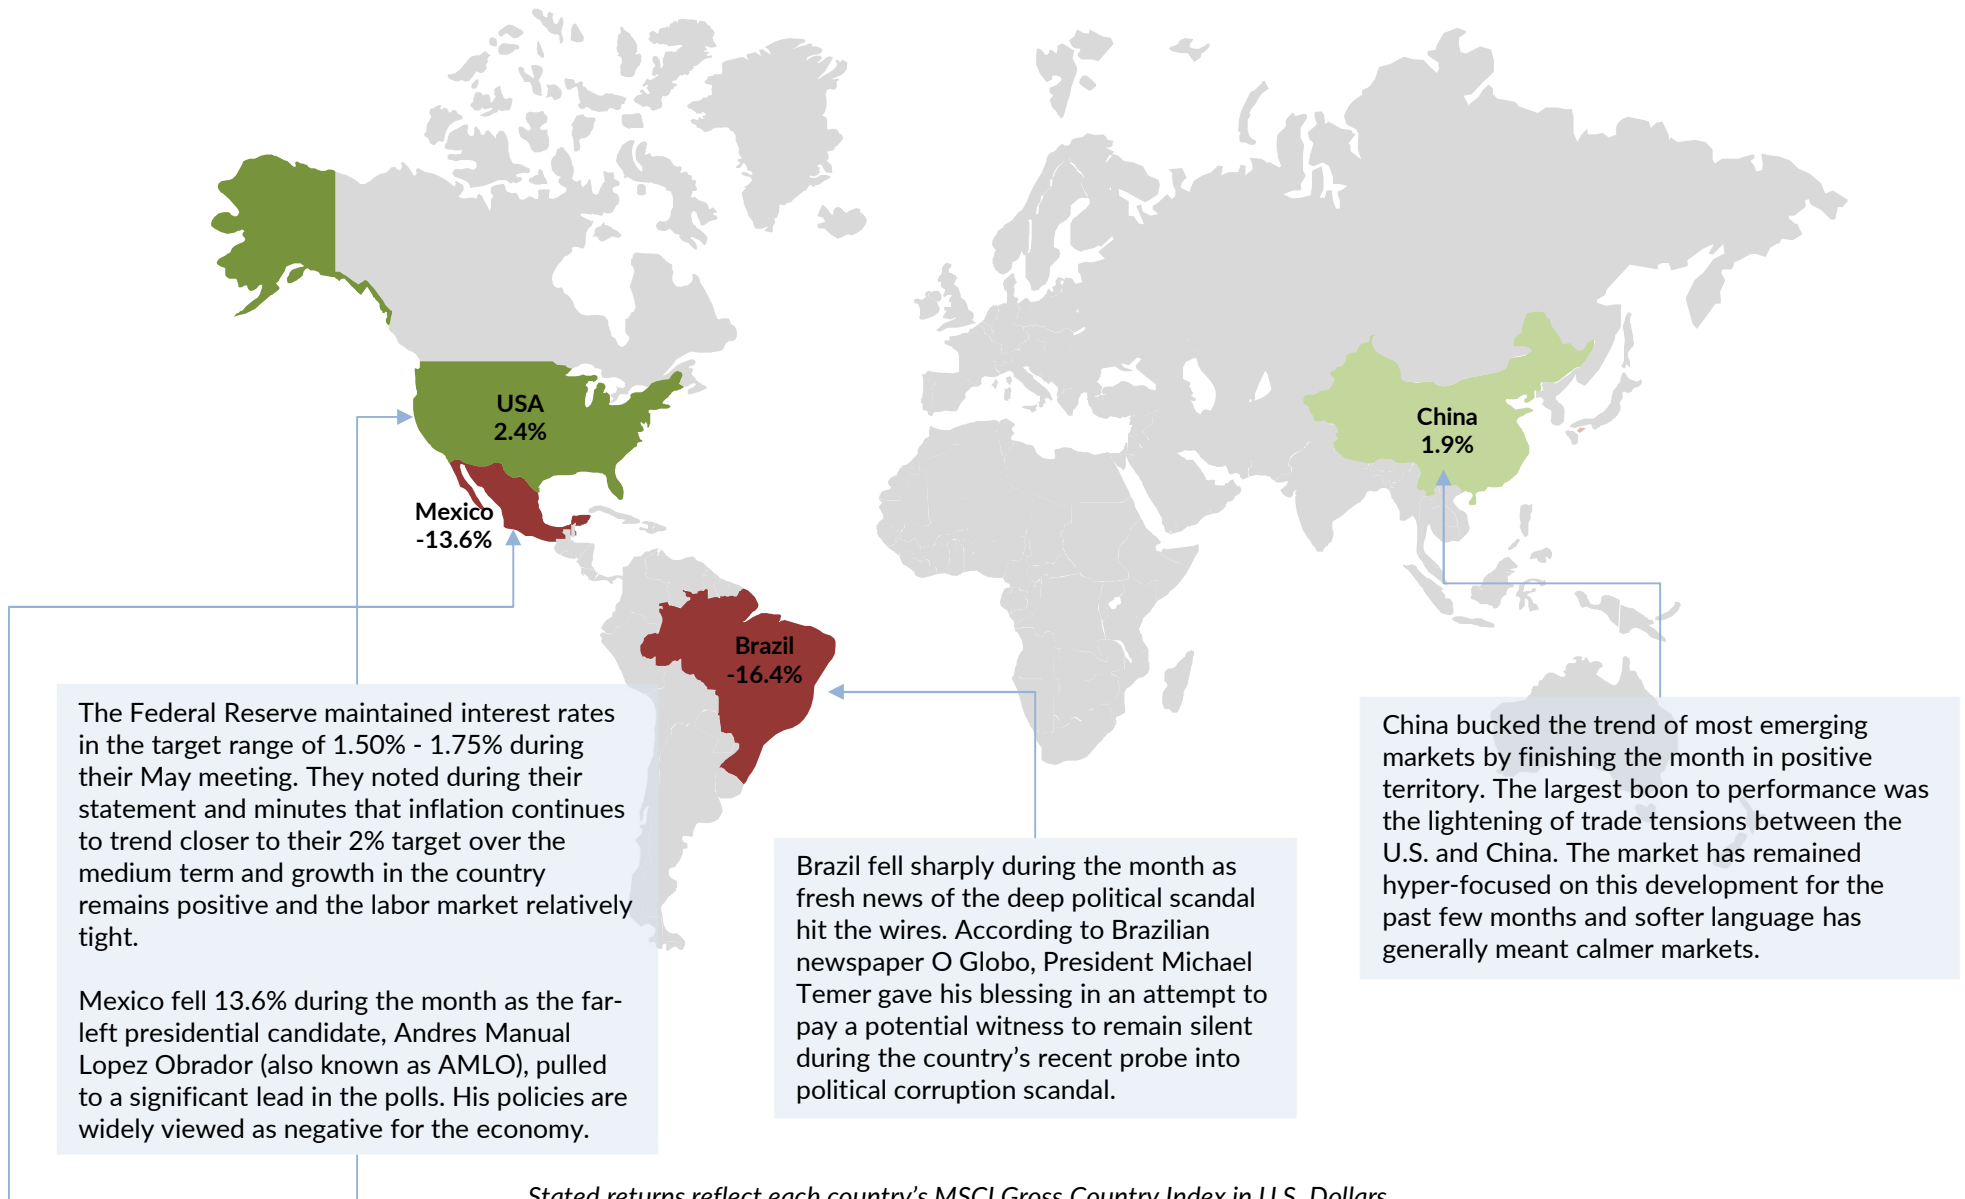

- Domestic equities moved higher with smaller capitalization companies significantly outperforming large cap names. Growth equities tended to outperform value-oriented names.
- International names were lower as France and Germany both fell. Within emerging markets, Brazil and Mexico were the largest decliners. Fresh news of additional political scandals peppering the headlines in Brazil led to declines.

Real Assets

- All asset classes within real assets finished in positive territory during the month.
- MLPs were the strongest performer within real assets as energy prices remained firmly higher and the space was absent significant negative news. Some consolidation occurred amongst GPs and LPs as MLPs remain near historical lows.
- Domestic REITs outperformed international as fundamentals remain strong and supply in check.
